Comments:

I am very supportive of the light rail option. I understand the costs and conflicts associated with such a project and am willing to sacrifice what's needed to obtain it. My only two complaints upon moving to downtown Vancouver have been 1)the congestion across the I-5 bridge and 2) Vancouver's lack of a light rail connection to the Portland system. Something has to be done....band aids or heads in the sand are no longer a solution. Its time to throw down the big bucks and get the job done right... for now and the future.
