HAL DENGERINK: Okay. Thank you, tom. Susan Hoffman.
SUSAN HOFFMAN: Hello. My name is Susan Hoffman. I am a resident of the (inaudible) -- my home is located at 3407 I Street and my back alley borders the current I-5.

It currently appears based on the information provided in the DEIS that approximately half of my property, which includes the back alley and the area where I am able to park my vehicle is to be eliminated.

I have only learned this through talking with friends and viewing the Draft Environmental Impact Statement for myself, which however does list 3405 and 3409, who are both my direct neighbors in the statement. I find it kind of peculiar that given the fact that I am one of the three of us that has attended the most meetings and has listed my address most frequently, that I am not a part of the actual statement.

Also, I have not been personally notified through a home visit by the Columbia River Crossing Task Force of any of the individual impact to my residence as stated through the DEIS.

Also, I do not want light rail as part of downtown Vancouver running north up Main Street. I do not want the current atmosphere and the present community which exists in downtown Vancouver to be erased. I do not want to live in a downtown urban setting like Portland. If I did, I would move there.

Currently, there is a very vital and thriving community -- commercial activity within the downtown and Main Street corridors, which has been nurtured by many dedicated small business owners. It is not necessary to uproot them and transform the entire landscape by introducing a permanent light rail to our downtown, which would only serve to drive out those small businesses and the many residents with deep permanent ties to the area by increasing criminal activity, transient mobility and moving increased gang activity from Downtown Portland and surrounding suburbs into our area. We do not need light rail in Vancouver.

HAL DENGERINK: Thank you, Susan. Okay. At this point, we are ready to change out with the next three folks. Robert Ross, Carol Panfilio and Leonard Bauhs, B-a-u-h-s. And now, Lisa.

LISA GHORMLEY: My name is Lisa Ghormley. I live at 3705 H Street. I also have a business at 207 East McLoughlin, which is slated for removal in the DEIS.

Most of the information that I gathered for the section about fright mobility, I got from the DEIS. If light rail is chosen, I feel the cost to the citizens and the surrounding neighborhoods of Vancouver is too high, the cost of our livability.

In Alinement Option Number Five, light rail will bisect three of the four major freight corridors listed for the Port of Vancouver -- Mill Plain, Fourth Plain and 39th Street.
