This project enables a particular tragedy of the commons to happen. The tragedy of the commons in this case is our good city living, and the tragedy that this enables is the city in which everyone drives, everyone wants to be able to get everywhere quickly; and this plan enables everyone to become the polluter who drives and enables everyone to consume more fuel, to endanger more people as they try to ride their bicycle or walk; and it enables people to live further away from where they work which helps destroy communities and enables people to shop further from where they live which destroys communities.

We have the opportunity to build the city we want, and we have the opportunity to build a plan that enables this particular tragedy of the commons. Okay. Thank you.
