I-146-001 What are your comments about the Project?

The project will impact the people who live near the viaduct that are disproportionately poor and latino. The CASA latina day laborers who seek for job in that area would need help on the ways:

- The City of Seattle should work with the DOT and CASA latina Day workers center to relocate them to a suitable location.
- The DOT should give priority to construction companies that include in their bids a commitment to working with CASA latina to employ their workers in the construction.

I-146-001

In March 2009, Casa Latina moved to their new building east of I-5 in the International District neighborhood. The new location is outside of the Alaskan Way Viaduct project area.

WSDOT will comply with the federal requirements for disadvantaged business enterprise (DBE) participation. WSDOT cannot require contractors to hire workers from specific organizations. However, WSDOT can and does encourage contractors to work with local organizations and to develop programs that draw on the local labor pool.
