The project will impact the people who live near the viaduct, who are disproportionately poor & Latino. In all of the 5 alternatives, the CASA Latina workers' Center will be displaced a the live base of these 1000 day laborers will be affected. I understand that they need to move but I would like to ask the DOT to help them in 2 ways:
① the city of Seattle with DOT work with CASA Latina to relocate the Day Workers' Center in a suitable location.
② The DOT gives priority to companies that commit to hire CASA Latina day workers in the construction.

In March 2009, Casa Latina moved to their new building east of I-5 in the International District neighborhood. The new location is outside of the Alaskan Way Viaduct project area.

WSDOT will comply with the federal requirements for disadvantaged business enterprise (DBE) participation. WSDOT cannot require contractors to hire workers from specific organizations. However, WSDOT can and does encourage contractors to work with local organizations and to develop programs that draw on the local labor pool.
