Comment:

I strongly support the option with the Pacific Interchange. My understanding is that this will provide much better traffic flows on both the north and south sides of the Montlake Cut. It is also logical to create a connection with the future light rail station. As a resident of Montlake, I will have light rail tunnel going under my house and significant disruption to our community. I think the Pacific Interchange will allow for better mitigation of impacts to the Seattle neighborhoods affected by the 520 bridge project, both from an environmental standpoint and a improved local transportation system for cars, buses, bikes, and light rail. Ultimately it seems that the Pacific Interchange is a better choice not just for our immediate neighborhood, but the transportation needs of the whole region. Thank you.
