I would like to register my opposition to the Pacific Interchange option. I think it is a horrible idea. The area it would significantly alter is one of the few remaining park-like areas in the city of Seattle. I do not think we need to turn Seattle into one giant interchange. The solution to Seattle's traffic problems is to use public transportation, not build more lanes. The notion of simply being able to hop in your car and go wherever you want in a short amount of time is simply not realistic in the modern world. People need to stop clinging to the past. Traffic congestion is not the problem.
